++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Windy and showery to start. Quieter conditions from Tuesday.

Today:
Some rain across north Wales during the morning, with this clearing to showers for the afternoon. Further south, a mixture of sunshine and blustery showers, some heavy with hail and thunder. Coastal gales during the morning will gradually abate. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Plenty of showers during the evening, these becoming more restricted to coastal areas overnight, as lengthy clear spells develop inland. Chilly with a rural frost. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tuesday:
Coastal areas will be prone to further showers throughout the day. Inland, plenty of sunshine around after a chilly start, with a scattering of afternoon showers developing. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Still a few showers on Wednesday, but some sunny spells too. Largely dry and bright on Thursday and Friday. Some overnight frost and patchy fog possible.
